FIREMAN ARTHUR PENNY LOST LIFE IN LINE OF DUTY

EXCITEMENT IS HIGH IN MEXICO CITY THIS MORN

Attempt to Bomb President's Train Sunday Added to Disorder

Mexico City, Feb. 11—(AP)—The greatest excitement Mexico City has known since the assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon prevailed today.

Police guards were doubled because of dynamiting of the train on which President Emilio Portes Gil was returning here yesterday, and because of discovery shortly after midnight of an unexploded bomb in the campaign headquarters of Aron Saez, presidential candidate.

Saez is Governor of the state of Nuevo Leon, the candidate of the National Revolutionary Party for the presidency, and is a son-in-law of ex-President Calles.

President Portes Gil arrived here shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. Smiling, the President greeted officers and members of his staff from the rear car before leaving with Senora Portes Gil and his baby daughter in an automobile for Chapultepec Castle.

Strong Military Guard.

Arriving with him was the Minister of War, General Joaquin Amaro, and Senora Amaro. A heavy military guard was kept about the station until after they left for their homes.

Adding to the Sabbath excitement were demonstrations accompanying the funeral of General Obregon's assassin, Jose De Leon Toral, who was executed Saturday. Of 34 persons arrested 20 were women. Three persons were killed and 30 were wounded.

The bombing of President Portes Gil's train took place as the locomotive passed over a bridge in the desert wilderness in the eastern part of the state of Guanajuato, between Comonfort and Rincon, south of San Luis Potosi.

The locomotive was partly destroyed and two coaches back of it were thrown from the tracks. The fireman in the locomotive was killed, the pilot train, which preceded the presidential special, passed over the bridge unscathed.

Found Second Bomb.

Further down the track another dynamite bomb—unexploded—was found above the rails.

Troops were instructed to shoot or capture anyone connected with the incident.

A special train was dispatched from Queretaro, enabling the party to continue the journey to Mexico City.

Mexico City police had their hands full at the funeral of Toral. A motor hearse carried his body to the Spanish cemetery on the outskirts of the city. As it passed through the streets a crowd fell in behind with occasional women breaking through police lines to grab a flower from the hearse.

Crowd at Funeral.

Fire engines accompanied the procession with hoses ready to disperse the gathering should it become unruly. Neither father, mother, nor widow of Toral was able to participate in the services.

While interment was in progress a volley of shots nearby frightened some but it developed soldiers had only fired above the heads of the crowd in an effort to disperse it.

Police officials estimated that 100,000 people lined the long route from the home of Toral's parents to the Spanish cemetery.

The crowds shouted "Viva Toral" and "Viva Cristo Rey" (Long Live Christ King) as the funeral cortege approached and openly jeered the police.

Mrs. Lillian Callan Died Sunday Morning

Mrs. Lillian Emma Callan passed away Sunday morning at 6 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Palmer of Nelson, death resulting from pneumonia. The deceased was born in Franklin county, Penn., April 11, 1858, and for several weeks had lived with her sister at Nelson. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Blanche Austrauser and two brothers, Miller and James Stitzel, all of Nelson. The remains were taken to Odell, Neb. Sunday evening, where the funeral will be held and interment will take place.

IGNORED PROTEST.

Washington, Feb. 11—A favorable report on the nomination of Pat M. Neff of Texas to be a member of the United States Board of Mediation was made to the Senate today by its Interstate Commerce committee over the protest of Senator Mayfield of Texas.

DEPUTIES GUARD YOUNG SLAYER IN CALIFORNIA JAIL

Mob Tried to Get at Northcott, Killer of Several Boys

Riverside, Cal., Feb. 11—(AP)—A cordon of deputy sheriffs stood guard at the cell of Gordon Stewart Northcott, convicted boy murderer, here today to prevent possible mob action such as was threatened over the week end.

Led by N. H. Winslow of Pomona, father of two of the boys alleged to have been killed by the young Canadian, 250 men swooped down on the county jail early yesterday morning and demanded an opportunity to see the prisoner and "get the actual truth."

Winslow walked to the jail door and rang the night bell while the crowd remained in the background. Sheriff Clem Sweeters and three deputies answered. Winslow told the officers he wanted to learn from Northcott where he could find the bodies of his boys, so they could be given a Christian burial. The father offered to give quit-claim deeds to all his property as a guarantee that Northcott would not be harmed.

Five men advanced from the crowd and followed Winslow into the jail. I know we are outnumbered twenty to one," the Sheriff told the crowd, "but you men can get Northcott only over our bodies. The law will take Northcott's life. Bloodshed now would be foolish."

Northcott awakened by the noise, was terror stricken and began to plead for protection. Winslow and the five men conferred for a moment and finally signified their intention of allowing the Sheriff to have his way.

The six men left and the crowd dispersed. Northcott will be sentenced to death today as the result of his conviction last week.

Issues Call Today for Senate Session

Washington, Feb. 11—(AP)—Following the customary procedure, President Coolidge today issued a proclamation calling the Senate into special session at noon on March 4 "to receive such communications as may be made" by the Chief Executive.

Under the Constitution, the present session ends automatically at 12 o'clock of that day. In order to receive nominations or other matters of business which the new Chief Executive might wish to submit, the tradition has been to call the Senate immediately into special session. New members of the body generally take their oaths of office at that time.

HOOVER JOINS IN BIRTHDAY HONORS FOR THOS. EDISON

President Elect is at Fort Myers Today Visiting Aged Inventor

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 11—(AP)—President-elect Herbert Hoover and his party early today were anchored in the yacht "Saunterer" off Punta Rassa, near Sanibel Island, ready for the short journey ashore and a gay celebration of the 62nd birthday of Thomas A. Edison, in which he expected to be joined by Henry Ford and Harvey S. Firestone.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rickard and Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Milbank, arrived off Fort Myers at 5:50 o'clock last night from Long Key, 80 miles south of the pre-inaugural home at Belle Isle, near Miami Beach.

Mr. Hoover was the last of the four to arrive. Mr. Ford came to his Fort Myers home last week, and joined Mr. Edison in his daily experiments at his Seminole Lodge home. Mr. and Mrs. Firestone arrived from Miami Beach last night.

Mr. Edison was prepared to lead a motorcade through the flag decorated streets of Fort Myers. Later he expected to officiate at the cutting of a birthday cake. Tonight a radio program has been arranged and promptly at 8:30 p. m. the aged inventor expects to open Edison hour over a chain of 26 broadcasting stations.

Mr. Hoover was joined at Everglades last night by his son, Herbert Hoover, Jr., who came by plane as far as Atlanta, Ga., continued to Miami by train, thence to Everglades by automobile.

After Mr. Hoover's short visit today with Mr. Edison, he will return to the Saunterer for a fishing expedition off the lower coast in hope of taking one or more tarpon.

Two Ashton Men are Called over Week End

(Telegraph Special Service)

Ashton, Feb. 11—Deaths claimed two well known residents of this vicinity over the week end, one a resident of Ashton and the second, residing north of the city in Ogles county. Harry L. Billmire, who has been ailing for the past six years, passed away at his home here Saturday evening about 9 o'clock. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Laura, at home and a sister, Mrs. T. Peterson of Baltimore, Md.

Funeral services will be held from the Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will take place in Washington Grove cemetery.

George Schreiber, tenant on the Charles Brown farm, three miles north of this city in Ogles county, expired as he slept this morning about 6 o'clock, death resulting from a heart attack. Mrs. Schreiber upon awakening about 6 o'clock observed her husband, apparently sound asleep, but snoring loudly. She called to him and tried to awaken him, but he expired. Coroner J. C. Aiken of Forreston arrived shortly before noon and conducted an inquiry. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon with burial in the Ashton cemetery.

600-Mile Flight on Lindbergh's Program

BULLETIN

Belize, British Honduras, Feb. 11—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, homeward bound from his inaugural Panama airmail flight, arrived here today at 11:50 A. M. E. S. T. from Managua, Nicaragua, where he had spent last night.

The route was, in the main, the reverse of that which he followed last week when he brought air mail here from Miami, Fla., and continued to Cristobal, Panama. He was not sure, though, whether he would stop today at Tela, Honduras, one of the stops on the trip from Miami.

Accompanying Colonel Lindbergh on his return flight to the United States is an escort plane piloted by Raymond J. Merritt. Another companion is Lieutenant Christian Schilt, Marine Corps aviator, who is going to Miami to become district superintendent of the Pan-American Airways mail route.

Colonel Lindbergh has with him 803 pounds of mail from Panama to the United States.

EXHIBITION CANCELLED

London—One Mr. Fitzgerald, of Barnet, was growing a giant pumpkin for exhibition at a fair. He provided every care that could be given a pumpkin and it grew ponderous. Then one day Fitzgerald went out to inspect the pumpkin and found that his Persian cat had scooped out a cavity in it and had taken possession with a litter of four kittens.

IDENTIFICATION OF ROBBER GOT CONWAY IN BAD

Kidnapped, Threatened With Death as a Result

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—James Conway, who two weeks ago identified a man as a slayer, was kidnapped last night, taken for a ride by five men, threatened with death if he was not "more careful in your identifications," and then released.

Conway, an oil dealer, with several other victims of recent robberies, had gone to the Bridewell hospital late in January to look at Albert Strook, who lay seriously wounded from bullets fired in a cigar store gunfight. He named Strook as the man who shot and killed Jimmy Webb, a semi-pro baseball player, last August.

The kidnapping of Conway was threatened by his wife and the taxicab driver who had just driven them home. Five men with pistols shoved Conway into a closed car. For nearly an hour the men drove Conway around the south side, threatening to kill him if he stuck to his identification of Strook.

The kidnapers told him, Conway said that Young Strook had been given "a bum rap." They kept their faces carefully hidden and Conway said he would not be able to identify any of them.

BATTLE OF OIL MEN IS WAXING HOT IN LETTERS

Rockefeller's Claim of Proxies to Oust Col. Stewart Denied

New York, Feb. 11—(AP)—Concealment of bonds by Colonel Robert W. Stewart is stressed in a 74-page letter sent to stockholders of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana today by Winthrop W. Aldrich, the proxy committee headed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The document includes excerpts from testimony before the Senate committee which investigated the Teapot Dome scandal and quotations from the opinion of the Supreme Court, in which the purpose of the Continental Trading Company was declared to have been illegitimate.

The letter sets forth in detail the connection of Colonel Stewart with the Continental Company and charges that he concealed from the directors of the Standard of Indiana for six years that part of the profits which had been turned over to him in the form of Liberty bonds "which he knew as early as November 1921, belonged either to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company or the Standard Oil Company of Indiana."

"Created Secret Trust"

It goes on to say that Stewart "instead of disclosing this fact to his board of directors and turning over the bonds, immediately created a secret trust making a subordinate employee of the company trustee, and did not himself keep nor did he require the trustee to keep any record whatever of the transaction except the trust agreement written in pencil which was kept in his (Stewart's) own safe deposit box."

After Colonel Stewart testified before the Senate committee he was tried under indictments for contempt of the Senate and for perjury in his testimony before the Senate committee and was acquitted in both trials the letter adds.

Based on Promise

"It was understood, however, the charge of contempt of the Senate or of perjury, but his conduct over a period of years in connection with the transactions of the Continental Trading Company and his attitude toward his own company, toward the public and toward public authority, which caused loss of confidence in Colonel Stewart."

"The request for the resignation by Mr. Rockefeller was based upon a personal promise of Colonel Stewart that if Mr. Rockefeller manifested a loss of confidence in his management he would resign."

The letter adds that more than a majority of stockholders have sent proxies to the committee which Mr. Rockefeller heads. Rockefeller is trying to oust Stewart as Chairman.

"LIBEL" STEWART SAYS

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—Col. Robert W. Stewart, through his personal attorney, last night pronounced as nothing short of a cowardly and cowardly libel statements made public in New York opposing Col. Stewart's reelection to the Standard Oil Company of Indiana's board of directors.

Albert W. Hopkins, the attorney, issued a statement which he said was in answer to two attacks upon Col. Stewart published in New York, one unsigned, the other by Winthrop W. Aldrich, New York lawyer, a brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and chairman of the Rockefeller committee.

THOME TO AMBOY

John Thome, country circulator for The Telegraph, will visit Amboy patrons of the paper tomorrow.

FIXED BY SHAULIS

Walter Mason of this city paid a fine of $10 and costs when arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulis in police court Sunday morning on a charge of intoxication.

FIRE ALARM TODAY

The fire department responded to an alarm at 10 o'clock this morning, making a run to 513 East Eighth street, where an overheated furnace threatened a residence. There was no damage to the property.

IMPROVING SLOWLY

Friends of Fred H. Moore of this city, who recently submitted to an operation at the Colonial (Mayo) hospital at Rochester, Minn., will be glad to learn that he is improving slowly. He is still under the care of a trained nurse and his wife is still at his bedside.

TAKEN TO PENNA.

Cesari Jacobucci, Italian, arrested in Nelson Friday night by Sheriff Ward Miller for Beaver county, Penna., officials, was taken over by Chief of Police Daniel L. Baker of Beaver county, Sunday, and their return journey from Sterling, where the prisoner had been held, began last night. It developed with the officials' arrival that the charge against Jacobucci is felonious assault and not murder, as his victim did not die from the effects of the wound.

WRIT IS DENIED

Judge Harry Edwards in the Circuit Court today denied the petition filed by Attorney H. A. Brooks to secure the release from the county jail of Elson B. Riddiesberger of Sterling, formerly of Franklin Grove, through a habeas corpus writ. The court upheld the action of the county court in committing Riddiesberger to the county jail or a contempt charge, through his failure to make restitution to the estate of the late Daniel R. Riddiesberger. In denying the petition, Judge Edwards ordered Riddiesberger remanded back to the county jail, and suggested that his only recourse was through a writ of error to the Appellate Court. Attorney H. C. Warner appeared for the estate opposing Riddiesberger's release.

Seek Help in Clark Memorial from Ill.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 11—(AP)—Seeking a contribution from Illinois toward the proposed George Rogers Clark memorial to be erected on the site of old Fort Sackville at Vincennes, Ind., representatives of the federal Clark Sesqui-Centennial Commission called on Governor Louis L. Emmerson today.

They were Dr. C. B. Coleman, executive secretary of the commission, and Frank Culbertson, chairman of the commission's executive committee. Frank Simpson of Flora, Ill., and Perry McCullough of Lawrenceville, Ill., accompanied them.

The federal government has appropriated $1,000,000 toward the memorial and granted the commission the right to collect the remainder from states of the northwest, Culbertson said.

Indiana already has appropriated $400,000 and a legislative committee of Ohio has recommended the appropriation of $200,000. Illinois is the largest state expected to participate in the memorial fund. The memorial is to cost between two and one-half and three million dollars. The city of Vincennes has contributed $200,000.

George Rogers Clark captured Fort Sackville and the Governor of the territory February 25, 1779. He was then 27 years old.

"He came very nearly being a forgotten hero," Culbertson said. "His deed changed the whole course of history and laid the foundation for the great northwest empire."

Clark died in poverty. Culbertson related a story about his last days, when the state of Virginia, thinking to honor the aged hero, sent him a jeweled sword.

Two young men delivered the sword with a pretty speech. Clark heard them through. Then he said: "When Virginia needed a sword I gave her one. When I need bread Virginia sends me a toy!"

So saying he jammed the jeweled sword into the ground and broke it.

RAWLINGS RESIGNS.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 11—(AP)—Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, Director of the State Department of Public Health, has resigned and will leave the post Thursday to become Assistant Director of the Chicago Health Department Friday, he announced today. Governor Emmerson has appointed no successor.

EUROPE FACES WORST WINTER IN MANY YEARS

Many Towns Marooned by Snow: Suffering is Very Intense

London, Feb. 11—(AP)—Ice and snow stretched today in a bleak white blanket across Europe from Scandinavia to the Balkans.

Some towns, frozen in, faced food and fuel shortage. Ice was piled high in rivers. In the Baltic 140 ships of various sizes were held tight in an ice crush.

In Jugoslavia the Moslem town of Gradska, near Sarajevo, was dug out of the snow after being buried for nine days. Food and fuel was gone and many of the 3,000 inhabitants were delirious. Army sappers reached the marooned villagers after others had fallen.

Passengers on the Simplon Express which a week ago was buried in an avalanche near Tschertaldja, arrived at Constantinople from Rodosto, little the worse for their harrowing experience. Among them was Sir Gilbert Clayton, new British High Commissioner to Iraq.

Denmark had the worst ice conditions since 1893. Many islands were cut off. One of them, Pelvorn, has been isolated since January 11. Two skaters crossed the sound to Sweden.

Ships Ice Bound

An ice breaker rescued the passengers of a liner frozen in the Cattegat. The ferry Moecklenburg was stranded with a ship load of passengers from Germany.

Germany suffered severely from the ice and cold.

The Baltic Canal was frozen over. Twelve hundred miles of the Danube river were frozen over and blocked with ice, which in many places piled several feet high, giving rise to fears of disastrous floods when the thaw comes.

Hungary experienced the lowest temperatures since 1869, ranging from zero Fahrenheit at Budapest to 22 degrees below at Matosza.

Conditions in and around Constantinople were extremely severe. There were many deaths. Railroads were blocked with snow nine feet deep in places, and many smaller communities were cut off from food supplies.

Four women died at Thessaly, Greece, where sixteen feet of snow demoralized all transportation and made prisoners of the inhabitants.

There were scattered reports of depredations from famished wolves. Warsaw experienced the worst cold in more than 100 years.

Victim of "Ride" Names Assassins

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—Pedro Locasto was "taken for a ride" last night, shot seven times, and thrown into the ditch skirting a lonely road. Picked up, still living, by a passing motorist, Locasto was taken to a hospital where he set a precedent among "ride" victims by "telling."

Locasto, who is 36 years old, said Mike Mediera and Sam De Salvo were his companions. When their car reached 22nd Street and Harlem Avenue, Mediera dropped his right arm back of Locasto. In his hand was a revolver, and six shots from it were fired into Locasto's body. After dumping Locasto out, the men drove away.

Physicians said Locasto probably would not live.

Sickness Reduced King George's Weight

Bognor, England, Feb. 11—(AP)—Some time ago the Duke of Kent, who has passed a story around indicating that King George's illness may have reduced his weight to 112 pounds.

It is said he was quite cheerful and jollied those who carried him from his room at Buckingham Palace to the ambulance that brought him to Bognor Saturday. He told them he hoped they would not find him too heavy. When the chief bearer said they had been practicing with a man weighing 170 pounds the King laughed.

"It is a good thing for you you don't have to carry that big policeman outside Buckingham Palace," he said.

ORDERS TAX REFUND.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 11—(AP)—Albert C. Bollinger, former State Director of Finance, was ordered by Circuit Judge Charles C. Briggie today to refund money collected under the old 2-cent gasoline tax to the Richardson Lubricating Co. of Quincy.

The decree was drawn up in accordance with the Judge's ruling last November that the gasoline companies cannot recover the $6,392,775 they paid under the gasoline tax act, but they are entitled to a refund of the $578,000 in collections, which is tied up by temporary injunctions in the Department of Finance.

WALSH TREADING THORNY PATH OF LOVE ALL ALONE

Yesterday He Told His Girl He Was in Jail: Today He Is

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—Sure enough, William J. Walsh is in jail. He said as much last night, but then he was just kidding. He knew as much today, and it was no joke.

For a year Walsh had regarded Miss Hazel Lofgren as his particular girl friend. Last night, however, when he dropped around he found his welcome charged with frigidly. Miss Lofgren as much as told him to get out and stay out, and that if he came back in 20 years it would be too soon.

Walsh All Upset

It is just such a reception as this that upsets a fellow. Walsh went to the Kensington police station and from there telephoned Miss Lofgren. "I am in the hand," he said, "of the police."

"Delighted, I'm sure," came the voice. "Goodbye."

Thwarted, Walsh went into the night.

Half an hour later the Kensington hospital notified police that a young man had just dashed in announcing he had been beset by thugs and beaten. The hospital could find no wounds. It was impressed, however, with his insistence that Miss Hazel Lofgren be notified. The desk sergeant at Kensington station notified Miss Lofgren to come over. Walsh was waiting with open arms when she walked in, but she sidestepped.

"Look Him Up" She Ordered

"Sergeant," she said, "I've been annoyed enough by this guy. Look him up. He's a pest."

Should Walsh decide to telephone her today and say he is in the hands of the police, he can speak with a marked degree of exactitude.

TURKISH PRINCE TO SEEK DIVORCE FROM U.S. WOMAN

Grandson of a Former Sultan Says He's Disillusioned

San Francisco, Feb. 11—(AP)—An interview, given here by Prince Shad Chakir, grandson of the late Sultan of Turkey, threatened today to cause an inquiry into the procedure by which his estranged wife, the former Sid Wirt Spreckels, regained her United States citizenship last week.

Prince Chakir, who declared he had been "disillusioned, hurt and disgusted," said he had come to "a parting of the ways" with his American-born consort, and that he would return to Turkey and obtain a divorce. Dispatches from Turkey several months ago said that divorce proceedings had been instituted by the Prince and it had been understood here that a decree had been issued.

The Turkish nobleman, who said he was here on business and that he would not see his wife, hinted that her repatriation had not been legal because she had entered this country on a visitor's permit. He said he believed it was necessary for an alien visitor to enter under the immigration quota to obtain citizenship. Mrs. Spreckels automatically relinquished her American citizenship when she married the Prince in Paris.

"For two years and a half," said the Prince, "my family has been humiliated in the dust by the suit brought against Madame Chakir by Princess Chivekhar (former wife of King Faid of Egypt and later the wife of Selim Bey of Turkey) charging indiscretions with her husband. Through it all I bore my humiliation before the world as best I could. I clung to the Turkish ideal of marriage as a thing of dignity and worth. But I can bear no more. Divorce is the only solution."

Shumaker to Begin Sentence Tomorrow

Indianapolis, Feb. 11—(AP)—Dr. Edward S. Shumaker, Superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, announced today that he would go to the state penal farm tomorrow morning to begin serving a sixty day sentence for contempt of the Indiana Supreme Court.

Shumaker was sentenced more than a year ago and last October went to the penal farm, but on his arrival there was notified that Ed. Jackson, who then was Governor, had pardoned him.

Later the Supreme Court issued a recommitment order and the dry leader took his case to the United States District Court. Judge Robert C. Baltzell denied a writ of habeas corpus.

Since then there had been some talk of taking the case to the Circuit Court of Appeals and to the United States Supreme Court.

Shumaker was convicted of indirect contempt of the Indiana Supreme Court because of statements contained in an annual report of the Anti-Saloon League which criticized decisions of certain members of the court in liquor cases.

VETERAN FIRE FIGHTER DIES FROM FUMES

Drops Dead After Battling Flames at the Chandler Home

The first tragedy in the history of the Dixon fire department in which one of its members lost his life in line of duty, saddened the hearts of many Sunday morning when Arthur Penny, who was serving his twentieth year as a member of the department, collapsed and died at the fire station. Gas and smoke which he had inhaled while fighting the fire at the home of Dr. A. W. Chandler, 306 North Jefferson avenue, for about two hours, doubtless filled his lungs and affected the heart, causing death.

Was Bad Fire to Fight.

"Art" as he was best known, responded to the alarm at 7:30 Sunday morning going to the home of Dr. Chandler where the firemen encountered the worst fire they have combated this winter. Flames which had gained their origin in the basement had eaten through the walls and practically the entire interior of the beautiful residence was burning. The fire is believed to have started from an oil heater in the basement.

A large storage tank on the outside had been turned on, filling a small service tank in the basement. The furnace was apparently forgotten to shut off the valve connecting the two tanks with the result that the smaller overflowed into the basement floor and the oil ran to the furnace where it was ignited and the flames spread rapidly.

Dr. and Mrs. Chandler were about to partake of their breakfast when they smelled smoke and upon investigation discovered the house to be on fire in many places. The fire department was called and all of the members responded to the alarm. It was necessary to direct streams of water between the walls and in the basement to quench the flames which were spreading rapidly. Mr. Penny was working alongside of Chief Thomas Coffey most of the time.

About 9 o'clock, Art spoke to Chief Coffey and complained of a pain in the lower abdomen. The chief advised him to go to the fire station and change his clothing and called Angier Wilson to take him to the city hall. On his way to the station he complained to Mr. Wilson of a severe pain in his chest and stated that the smoke and gas "almost got me this time."

Died In Sudden Attack.

He appeared to feel some better when he reached the city hall and upon entering the fire department stepped into the telephone booth to call his wife. The line was busy and he stepped out of the booth. Fred Brucker who was standing near by observed him holding both hands over his heart and Mr. Penny said something about his heart pounding hard. He continued upstairs alone and in a few minutes, he was heard to groan and fall.

Officer Dick Pomeroy, John Morrissey and George Eichenberg rushed up the steps into the bedroom section of the fire department and found Mr. Penny lying on the floor unconscious and breathing slowly. When Officer Pomeroy and Mr. Eichenberg lifted him from the floor to place him on his bed, he expired in their arms. Dr. Henry J. McCoy, who had hurriedly summoned, arrived in a few minutes and pronounced life extinct. The body was later removed to the Jones funeral home to be prepared for burial.

Coroner Frank M. Baiker ordered an inquest conducted over the remains this morning at 9:30.

Was Veteran Fireman.

"Art's" friends were numberless and all who knew him, loved him. He was of a quiet but happy disposition, pleasant and smiling under all conditions and he will be sadly missed from the fire department and by all who knew him. Arthur Penny was born in New York City 49 years ago and came to Dixon when a young boy, working in the factories and gaining his education in the schools. He was next to Chief Thomas Coffey in point of continual service as a member of the fire department. He became a member of the department, January 16, 1910 and had lived eleven months longer and kept his health, he would have been retired on a pension.

Dr. Chakir Hall.

The city hall building was draped in mourning today in memory of the much loved fireman whose life was exacted while in the performance of his duties. Arthur is survived by his wife, Mrs. Catherine Penny, four daughters, Mrs. Marie Barnhart of Rock Falls, Mrs. Charlotte Sprankle of Chicago, Mrs. Irene Simmonds of Rockford, Miss Dorothy at home, and two brothers, James

MILLINERY STORE
Is in New Hands

A change of interest in Dixon business circles was consummated Saturday when The Woolver Hat Shop changed hands. Mrs. Lily Woolver sold her shop to Mrs. J. W. Sipe of this city and Robert Rosenthal of New York City. The store will be managed for the greater part of the time by Mrs. Sipe as Mr. Rosenthal is interested in furs and will be on the road for a portion of the year and will hold the fur sales as usual for his firm, some of them here. Mrs. Sipe has been affiliated with Mrs. Woolver for eight years. She thoroughly understands the business, and has a large following of friends. Mr. Rosenthal is not unknown to Dixon people and his strict integrity exemplified in the fur business, combined with that of Mrs. Sipe, is an excellent recommendation with which to carry on the business principles carried out always by Mrs. Woolver, whose word is as good as her bond. Mrs. Woolver is a pioneer milliner of Dixon and she has built up a nice business by her honesty and a genuine effort to please her customers, all of whom will regret her departure from business circles. She will be associated with Mrs. Sipe for some time, in the store, however.

There are tentative plans to remodel the store and new fixtures will be installed.

Public Buncos party to be given at Union Hall by the Horace F. Otti Auxiliary Monday night, Feb. 11th, at 8 o'clock. Refreshments. Admission 25c.

SETTLE ROMAN
QUESTION TODAYIts Terms Will be Announced by Vatican
on Anniversary

Rome, Feb. 11.—(AP)—After more than half a century of estrangement, peace was formally established today between the Holy See and the Italian government, marking one of the most momentous chapters in the modern history of the church and state.

Representing the Vatican and the Italian government respectively, Cardinal Gasparri, famous Papal Secretary of State, and Premier Mussolini, creator of the Fascist state in Italy, placed their signatures upon three historical documents, one a treaty solving and eliminating the "Roman Question," which has existed ever since the loss of temporal power in 1870; the second a concordat designed to regulate the relations of the church and state in Italy, and third a convention settling the financial relations between the Holy See and Italy.

To Give Summary
The terms of these documents was not made public since it must first be presented for discussion to the legislative assembly, but it was announced that an exhaustive and precise synopsis would be given out tomorrow, which is the anniversary of the coronation of Pope Pius.

While the official text has not been made public, it is known that the first "treaty" recognizes the absolute independence and sovereignty of the Pontiff, at the same time slightly redefining the boundaries of the Vatican without any great increase in its actual area. The concordat is understood to provide for the acceptance of canon law by the state, thus introducing the church attitude on such questions as marriage and divorce into the civil code.

Reduce Indemnity
The agreement also provides for an indemnity which the Italian government will pay the Vatican. At first the indemnity was placed at 2,000,000,000 lire (about $105,000,000) but this was reduced to 1,750,000,000 lire of which 750,000,000 (about $39,375,000) will be paid in cash and the remainder in government bonds. The total amount is about $87,500,000.

The signing of the documents took place in the famous Council Hall of the Lateran Palace. It was the first time that Premier Mussolini had ever entered the historic structure and he was plainly interested in the various works of art that adorned it. He and Cardinal Gasparri greeted each other warmly and exchanged a few compliments on the occasion.

There was a crowd of many thousands outside in the great square, but there was a light rain falling and there was no great excitement. Students in the various colleges and numerous priests were in the crowd and the police had comparatively little to do.

Will Sue Boswell
for Fines Collected

East St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 11.—(AP)—State's Attorney Browning of Williamson county, Ill., announced here today he would file suit at once to recover about $10,000 from his predecessor, Arlie O. Boswell, and nine bondsmen, representing fines and judgments unaccounted for to the County Treasurer.

Boswell, convicted recently in federal court here of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, is serving a two-year penitentiary term. He denied at his trial that he owed money to the county.

Browning said he would file the suit late today in Circuit court at Marion. He declared that the money had been collected in fines and judgments by Boswell and that the latter had failed to turn it over to the county when he went out of office.

feller proxies committee seeking Stewart's defeat at the stockholders' meeting March 7.

The Aldrich statement was described by Hopkins as "a cunningly drawn document to deceive the stockholders and the public" and the lawyer further described it as "untrue in many places."

The Chicago attorney went into the Consolidated Trading Company transaction, and reiterated denials that the oil company head made any concealment of his part therein or that any action by him was taken except with the interests of the Standard Company in mind.

Hopkins was asked about the Aldrich statement that Col. Stewart for six years did not tell about the bonds received in the Consolidated deal.

"That is not true, either," Hopkins said. "Col. Stewart told L. L. Stephens, General Counsel for the Standard Oil of Indiana about them in 1924. He didn't tell the rest of the board of directors because the investigation was on and because of the publicity, and he didn't wish to put any further responsibility on the directors' shoulders."

Regarding the New York statement that Mr. Rockefeller already held a majority of stockholders' proxies, Hopkins said:

"We say that that is untrue, and we charge them to prove it."

Four Youths Meet
Death on Crossing

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Six young boys and girls left Joliet Saturday night to attend an Aurora dance. Today all but two of the youths were dead.

Their automobile skidded on icy pavement and crashed into a freight train, killing three almost instantly and the fourth victim died this morning.

The dead are:
Robert Spangler, 22, of Plainfield, Ill., son of the late Dr. Harry Spangler, in whose car the party was riding.

Alice Breen, 20, Joliet, daughter of a school teacher.

Gertrude Whitmer, 18, Joliet high school girl.

Henry Schneider, 22, of Joliet.

Spangler died today. The two girls and Schneider were killed outright.

Alicia Mitchell, 18, of Joliet, fifth member of the party, is in a hospital here in a critical condition. William Thompson, 23, son of the Director of Music in Joliet schools, was the only member of the party to escape with minor injuries. He said young Spangler saw the train as he approached the crossing and applied his brakes but the automobile skidded over the ice and crashed into the locomotive.

House Ways and Means committee goes on with tariff hearings.

Senate Immigration committee considers national origins act of immigration statutes.

House Rules committee considers resolution for special rules to take up bill to extend of Radio Commission for a year.

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Members of Congress are confident that they have the legislative program well in hand. Enough progress has been made on appropriation measures to practically assure the passage of all of them before March 4 and the Senate has Boulder Dam, the Kellogg treaty and the cruiser bill out of the way. Only the usual grist from the mill is expected from now until the end of the session, but even so there will be enough problems to settle.

May Shelve Measure.
On the Senate program today was the Caraway bill to regulate trading on cotton and grain futures and the District of Columbia. The Senate also had the Heflin resolution, asking that the Federal Reserve Board propose legislation to meet the speculative situation on the exchanges, in the office. It seemed likely that the Caraway bill, already shelved once, would be laid aside while the resolution was taken up, although its sponsor, Senator Caraway of Arkansas, had served notice that he wanted his measure passed.

Before the week is out the Senate is also expected to pass on the Walsh report censuring the Departments of the Interior and Justice for their part in the renewal of the contract for Salt Creek royalty oil to the Sinclair interests.

To Count Vote.
The House tomorrow is expected to take up the last of the nine appropriation measures, the legislative supply bill, and Wednesday both Houses met in joint session to count the electoral vote.

The House passed the 347,000,000 naval supply bill Friday and since appropriation bills are given the right of way nowadays the Senate may get around to it Tuesday or Wednesday.

A phase of immigration was before the Senate Immigration committee today, that body continuing with hearings on the proposal to suspend the national origins clause of the immigration act.

Penny of this city and William Penny of Chicago.

Carbon monoxide gas poisoning was given as the cause of the death of Fireman Penny by the coroner's jury at the inquest conducted at the Jones funeral home this morning.

According to the testimony, the fireman inhaled the gas fumes from the burning fuel oil, while fighting the fire in the attic of the house, and other members of the department and those who volunteered their services to assist in removing furnishings, narrowly escaped asphyxiation.

Fire Chief Thomas Coffey in his testimony before the coroner's jury stated that Sunday's fire was the third of the same origin which the department had been called upon to extinguish at the Chandler home.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, 405 Galena avenue, and at 9:30 from St. Patrick's Catholic church. Delegations from the fire departments at Freeport, Sterling and Rock Falls will attend the services and interment will be made in Oakwood.

THE BRAMBLE
The north-east wind had blown for many a day.
The earth was brown.
The glow of the tree was shorn away.
The last leaf down.

Yet as the wind and ragged cloud sped on
That lined the gloom,
I saw a flash of beauty light the road—
A bramble in bloom.

Far on the wing,
Or pledge of coming splendor, the very sight
Made my heart sing.

"Nancy Anna Brown's Folks" Tuesday Eve.

The play "Nancy Anna Brown's Folks," which was given by young folks of the Bradford Community Club at Lee Center last week will again be presented by the same cast, at Lincoln Hall at Franklin Grove on Tuesday evening, February 12.
A dance will be given immediately after the play, with music by Orner's orchestra.
This play drew a capacity crowd at Lee Center and it is expected fully as many will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing these Bradford Young Folks in this interesting comedy-drama.

CHICAGO WOMAN AIDS

YOUNG VIOLIN ARTISTS
Chicago—(AP)—A Chicago society woman has unlatched the door of musical fame for two California lads scarcely old enough to hold a violin in their arms.
Ruggiero Ricci, the eight-year-old protégé of Mrs. Frederick H. Bartlett, was acclaimed as another Heifetz by critics who heard his debut on a San Francisco concert platform. At six years of age Ruggiero's brother, Giorgio, won a scholarship after he had studied the violin seven months.

A letter from a relative told Mrs. Bartlett of the Ricci brothers. Louis Persinger, himself a violin teacher, said their parents were too poor to permit them to develop a precocious talent. Mrs. Bartlett determined to aid them.
She rented a cottage in Berkeley, Calif. A housekeeper and governess were hired to care for the boys. Tutors and violin teachers were engaged.

Twice before his concert debut Ruggiero won the Oscar Weir memorial scholarship for gifted and talented students. His technique on a $35 violin brought a unanimous vote of praise from Pacific coast critics. Giorgio won the Emporium Achievement club's contest and a scholarship in his first public appearance.

Luncheon—Hidden oysters, cabbage and green pepper relish, chocolate bread pudding, milk, tea.
Dinner—Pot roast of fish, steamed potatoes in parsley butter, Brussels sprouts, grape juice, saffron, milk, coffee.

Hidden Oysters.
One quart oysters, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk, 1 yolk of egg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 lemon, 1 blade mace, two-inch rounds of toast.

Look over and drain oysters. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Melt butter in sauce pan and stir in flour. Slowly add milk and oyster liquor, salt and mace. Bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Remove mace and stir in yolk of egg well beaten. Place oysters in a buttered baking dish and pour over sauce. Place in a moderate oven for ten minutes. Cover with thin rounds of toast and serve.

To make the toast cut bread in thin slices and cut into rounds with a cookie cutter. Dip in melted butter and toast quickly in a hot oven.

"On Approval" is Presented Before Dixon Women's Club

The play "On Approval" which was presented Saturday afternoon to the Dixon Women's Club audience by post-graduate students of Northwestern university proved to be even more interesting than the club had hoped for.

This delightful entertainment was arranged for the club audience by the Literature Department of which Mrs. Lucille Weiss is chairman.
The dramatic company consisted of Garret H. Leverton, director of Northwestern University theater, John F. Baird, assisting director and a cast of five students, three girls and two boys, also a young lady in charge of stage arrangement.

The play, "On Approval" was a 3-act comedy with an English setting on a background written simply with the idea of entertainment and full of delicious bits of humor and English irony throughout the entire play. Each character in the play was so well acted out by these talented artists that the intense interest and enthusiasm of the very large audience was held throughout the entire play. The sharp contrast of the worldly blonde widow and the very talkative ever-bearing Duke kept the audience completely amused.

The platform of the church by means of heavy curtains and comfortable and attractive furniture was transformed into a pleasing stage.
Garret H. Leverton, director of N. U. Theater provided the specialties between acts by talks of clubs emphasizing National Drama Week.
Everyone who had the pleasure of hearing these interesting players are hoping the Literature Dept. will arrange another such program.
This very happy afternoon was completed with delicious refreshments served by the committee in charge.

Silver Wedding Anniversary Happy Event

The twenty-fifth anniversary, the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gilbert of Palmyra township, was observed Sunday at their beautiful country home, with a dinner for twelve guests. It was also the first wedding anniversary of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Gilbert who reside west of Dixon and was altogether a delightful and happy event.

The decorations for the home were pink roses, ferns and wedding bells and the beautifully appointed dinner table was most attractive in its gleaming silver and crystal with roses and ferns, and suspended over the table were wedding bells. One of the main features of the delicious dinner was the wedding cake, a large angel food cake, which had been baked by Mrs. Waldron Gilbert and which was a triumph of the culinary art. The afternoon was spent in radio music, and in visiting. The guests presented to the host and hostess several handsome pieces of silver, with the congratulations and best wishes of all, for future happy anniversaries. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert are highly esteemed in a large circle of friends and neighbors.

Girl Scout Court of Awards Beautiful Ceremony Saturday Eve

On Saturday night the Girl Scouts of Dixon held a Court of Awards at the South Side high school auditorium. There were about 350 present. Each Troop in Dixon was responsible for some part of the entertainment.

Harriet Utley, Myra Alice Warner and Joyce Warner were the color guards.

The girls given their Tenderfoot Pins were Elizabeth Kennedy, Fay Elair, Madeline Stiff, Dorothy Hoyle, Ethel Platts, Etola Miller, Evelyn Killian, Betty Whitcomb and Phyllis Marsk.

Those receiving Second Class Badges were Mary Davies, Madeline Huggins, Ruth Lengel, Helen Marth, Anna Malarky, Maxine McGinnis and Neva Resek.

Those who were awarded Proficiency Badges were Louise Warner for Scholarship, Craftsmen and Cook; Anna Malarky for Landreess and Homemaker; Neva Atkinson for Rancier and Bird Finder; and Betty Zarger for Hostess.

Mary Hamilton was awarded her First Class Badge.
The next to the highest honor in Girl Scouting, the Letter of Commendation was given to three Girls last evening. Those receiving it were Myra Alice Warner, Clara Gwen Hardwell and Joyce Warner. These girls have been in Girl Scouting since 1924 and have been active Girl Scouts to the present time. They are all shown evidence of continual growth and enrichment of character during their enrollment in Girl Scouting. Harriet Utley was given her Golden Eaglet, which is the highest honor in Girl Scouting. It is the goal of every Girl Scout. Harriet has held her Letter of Commendation for over six months and has 23 merit badges to her credit. She has been a Girl Scout since her moving to Dixon, and was a member in Downers Grove previous to that. She has shown her consciousness of obligation toward school, home and community.

Mrs. George B. Shaw, chairman of the Dixon Community Committee of Girl Scouts assisted by Miss Dorothy Palmer, local director, presented the awards.

After the program, which showed a great deal of work on the part of all the Leaders of the Troops and the Girl Scouts themselves, the audience sang "Taps," which was followed by the echo sung by Miss Helen Edwards.

The Manual Training department under Mr. Austin is to be thanked for their assistance in getting the properties ready.

Birthday Party Write-Up Of Much Interest

The following interesting article was written by Mrs. John G. Ralston, (Lucile Reynolds Ralston) for her father's paper, "The Leader," was published in the issue of Monday, Feb. 10, 1929. The article as will be seen was an account of "Dickie" Durkes' first birthday party, Saturday evening the Telegraph published an account of his eleventh birthday party and he is now "Dick" instead of "Dickie".

The three boys at Dick's first party, Edgar B. Crawford, James Buckingham and Bob Evans, have attended all Dick's birthday parties, and were included in the sixteen who attended Dick's eleventh birthday party, Friday, Feb. 8th, 1929.
Under the caption, "Master Dickie Durkes Entertains," was the article as it appeared in the Leader:
Master Richard Steel Durkes entertained a number of his contemporaries Saturday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Durkes.

It was a gala day indeed for first of all, it was Dickie Durkes' first appearance as a host, and second, it was his very first birthday; and thirdly, it was the very first time his guests had ever been invited to his pretentious party, and if the truth really be known, it was their very first party.

One wonders which was the most excited at receiving such a unique invitation; to bring the new baby, mother, her sister, her aunt, and her grandmother! Whether it was the wee, small baby, or the mother, or its doting grandmother.
When the appointed time came, the perambulators rolled in, white bundles were hustled in, and in the front hall stood (or sat), the young host.

His charm at receiving his guests was spoken of particularly by the girls, who outnumbered the boys. So gracious was he, that he was seen shaking hands any number of times with several guests.

Surely, the coming generation of Dixon will be unusual, if one can judge from baby qualities.

After greetings were exchanged, (and we shall not go into further details), one wondered who the lovely dark eyed boy belonged to, so plump and round, and of course that was Edgar Bishop Crawford. He will one day make Dixon a splendid mayor. And next to him (have you always noticed that when there are girls and boys, they get together) sat lovely Bobby Evans, and he will make a man of affairs, for his eye is steady and keen, and observes much. There sat darling Jean Bovey, so round were her eyes—and she seemed to have an innate satisfaction, as ladies do when they are the youngest one present—and the next youngest was pretty Polly Harvey, with her Titian hair and lovely blue eyes. There are those children that you always just know whether they are boys or girls, and one could not fail to know that the little Kahlor baby was a girl, and her name must be something pretty as Juliana, for she is charmingly feminine. And speaking of charmingly feminine things, Amy Lucia Ackert surely would be termed this, for she is a darling child. And do you know the type of child that is just plain sunshine wherever it is? Well, if you do not, you should meet Virginia Louise Kerr, for the child is simply adorable, and meets one more than half way, and possesses the grace and elegance and wit of her altogether lovely grandmother, Mrs. Louise Steel. Yes, everyone had its own charm, and quite individual, too—for Georgiana Shaw is just as piquant and graceful as she should be, and a blonde—too—which is always for a girl, and there sat James Buckingham, a fine type of man with fine qualities. A maiden shy and coy was adorable Katherine Buchner.

The "older crowd"—oh, much older—did not, curiously enough, seem at all bored, as often they do at younger sister's or brother's party. There were in the older group, Grace Louise Crawford, a real brunette, and such pretty manners! Jane Grey Harvey

The Bidding: South opens with no-trump and all pass.

Deciding the Play: West leads 5 of spades. What card should be played from dummy and by declarer?

The Error: The 3 of spades is played from dummy and when East plays a card higher than 6 of spades, declarer takes with the queen of spades.

The Correct Method: Applying the rule of fourth best, declarer knows East holds three spades. The hold-up is necessary to exhaust East of that suit. Declarer should refuse to take the first trick. East will continue to play spades and the king of spades will force Ace of spades. When declarer wins the third trick with queen of spades all finesses are taken toward East and game must be made.

The Principle: The Ace of a suit is not absolutely necessary to execute the hold-up.

DEAR FRIENDS:—

Lots of people seem to have the idea that all we clean is suits and dresses.

Today we have—besides the usual run of cleaning—some pillows, curtains, drapes, table runners, a mass of felt hats, and quite a few neckties.

That will give you a little idea about how extensive this business really is.

Mr. Weis says the only kind of cleaning he doesn't like is house cleaning. Same here!

—and one is reminded of the saying that "Charm is sort of a bloom on a woman." When one looks at Jean. And then Lucy Bovey was there. If I picture a fairy, she would look not unlike Lucy.

I overheard Dickie Durkes say that he was most disappointed that all of the Sterlings could not come. Chandler and Bobbie and Eleanor; and Dorothy Miner and Gretchen Kahlor but so saying, he crept off.

Oh—marbles were played, rabbits were squeezed. Toddlers were hugged and one little girl was so infatuated with the duck she insisted on taking it home with her until her prize was discovered. But all of THESE GAMES were nothing compared to the excitement that followed; the time to cut the cake! Can it be that Dickie Durkes had never before cut a birthday cake! He never showed the least excitement—even when he saw the beautiful white thing—yes, and chocolate iced in everything—and one pink candle. He wielded the cake knife like a master and plunged it into the delicious soft sticky frosting—But no matter—this was his day.

And Dickie Durkes gave his picture to each little boy or girl (no doubt it will be greatly cherished by some of the latter.) Upon the picture he (or his mother) had written an appropriate verse.

I heard it said that they all voted Dickie Durkes an excellent host and a fine fellow. Many happy returns of February eighth to him!

THE PRINCE'S SERVICE.

The Prince of Wales has never served his nation better than by his recent tour of inspection of the British mining areas.

It makes a wierd, fascinating picture, this tale of the prince investigating poverty. There is the boyish, slender heir to the throne, lonely and ill, stalking down muddy streets between tumble-down shacks while underfed, hopeless people stand in doorways to see what message the next king of England has for the depths of woe. The trip is making all of England see the picture, focussing attention on an accumulation of misery that had gone too long unheeded.

There is not a great deal of hope for many of these British miners. There are whole villages where no one has worked for months; where every inhabitant lives on the government dole, dependent on charity for every bite of food and every rag of clothing; where mines have been shut down so long that weeds are growing on the slag-heaps by the pit heads; where houses have been abandoned, never to be reoccupied again.

All of this has been true for quite a while, and England has known about it in a hazy sort of way; but it took the prince's visit to impress the facts on the general public. Whatever is eventually done to relieve the distress, much of it will be due to the prince's visit.

This, of course, does not touch us very closely on this side of the Atlantic. But the underlying principle is worth looking at, whether you live in England or Colorado.

England is not the only country that has had festering sores but refused to look at them. The ostrich habit of burying the head in the sand and ignoring all unpleasant sights is as common in the New World as in the Old.

In the United States, for instance, there are plenty of things that would shock us unutterably if we would look at them steadily.

Our own coal miners, as it happens, have troubles of their own. In Pennsylvania there are mining towns where conditions are nearly as bad as they are in England.

We have city slums, too, where vice and crime and misery exist in a degree to make the angels weep. We have certain textile manufacturing towns where hunger and unemployment are familiar, every-day acquaintances to most of the inhabitants. We have agricultural regions where honest, industrious men have seen poverty come upon them through no fault of their own.

But we don't get excited about any of these things. In a vague way we know that they exist, but we don't do anything about it. We haven't been jarred into activity.

Perhaps it would be a good thing for us if we had a young prince who could open our eyes to a few things. We always have good intentions; but too often it takes catastrophe to get us into action.

CLARK'S THEORY.

It is a startling new theory of man's origin that Dr. Austin H. Clark, of the Smithsonian Institution, recently presented.

Dr. Clark denies that Darwinian theory of the descent of man. He does not believe we have any kinship with the ape, and doubts very much that the "missing links," beloved by evolutionists, are really missing links at all. Man first appeared, he says, in something very like his present form, and has changed very little.

During the next few years we may be assured that Dr. Clark's new theory will undergo the closest sort of scrutiny by other scientists. It may be years before the final verdict is returned. Meanwhile, the very fact that he presented it is one more proof of the fact that science, at its best, is not wedded to any one rigid theory and does not close its eyes to evidence which may contradict its previous findings.

It will be interesting to see what Dr. Clark's fellows say about his theory.

A California bridegroom, visiting his parents-in-law for the first time, was struck with an iron bar by his mother-in-law and shot at by his father-in-law. It's just possible he is beginning to believe he married into the wrong family.

Well, if the styles continue as they are, we're not in any danger now of petticoat government.

Professor Einstein is astonished over public interest in his theory, which "probably not more than a dozen or so men in the world could possibly understand." Maybe that's just why the public is interested.

Some of our best friends may have been Yale men, but some of our closest friends have been Scotchmen.

A Boston high school boy reports the theft of a $450 racoon coat. What's wrong with that story?

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Each Tot and Tiny waved a hand. The sea man then came up on land. The whole bunch laughed to see him splash the water here and there, and really didn't seem to care that he was ringing wet. He shouted, "Everything's all right. I always live down in the sea. That is the place I like to be. The fish all know me very well and they all like me, too. My house is 'way down in the sand. Say, you should see it. It is grand. If you would like to go down there, that's what we all will do."

"Oh, no," cried Clowzy. "I'm afraid. We Tinymites were never made to live beneath the water. We must be out in the air. Of course we'd like to see your home, but if there's one place we can't roam it's down beneath the waves. You see we really wouldn't dare."

"I guess you're right," the man replied. "You lads had better stay outside. I'm going to sit down on the bank and you all may as well sit down and join me for a while. I'm sure that I can make you smile and show a lot of interest in the stories I will tell."

He told them yarns about the sea. They were attentive as could be. And then the kindly old man said, "I have a big surprise. Just watch that little stream out there. What I will do may bring a scare." And then he turned the stream to ice before their very eyes.

"Hurrah!" cried Clowzy. "That is great! I only wish that we could skate." "Well, slide instead," the man replied. "You'll find it's safe and sound." They tried the ice and found it strong, and felt that nothing could go wrong. In just about a moment they were sliding all around. (More fun on the ice comes in the next story.)

THE INAUGURAL PAGEANT

From Washington to Hoover

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

(Associated Press Feature Writer)

Washington—(AP)—Second of the vice presidents to be suddenly elevated to the presidency by the death of the chief executive, Millard Fillmore, New York whig, took the oath of office before a somber assembly of senators and representatives in the capitol July 10, 1850.

The inauguration was overshadowed by the grief-stricken homage to Zachary Taylor, and the sepiator of the people passed into Fillmore's steady hands "as quietly and quickly as a power of attorney is acknowledged before a justice of the peace." The only public demonstration was one of grief at the passing of a popular president.

There was silence in the streets of the capital, the national colors were at half mast, and "all the public offices were closed and arrayed in the same sable colors, even to the national monument." The executive mansion was literally covered with black. President Fillmore was a respected, but comparatively obscure figure at the funeral of "Old Rough and Ready."

Probably the most dramatic note in an impressive funeral procession two miles long was that given by "Old Whitey," General Taylor's favorite war horse, following the carriage that bore his master's body.

The old cannon-proof charger, whose nostrils had coolly carried the smoke of Buena Vista and Palo Alto, his once white coat now yellow and matted, looked more like a devoted family horse than a battle steed as he walked, hoisters on saddle and spurs inverted, in the scorching sun. Another flash of yellow, amid the black and white of the cortege, was the feathers in the towering plume of Gen. Winfield Scott, comrade in arms of General Taylor.

Carrying on the policies of Taylor, President Fillmore took up his residence in the White House in a "quiet and unostentatious manner." A contemporary admirer said of him: "I think it will be conceded by everybody that he is the best looking of all the Presidents who have occupied the national mansion."

"He is a man among men in appearance, overtopping in height the majority of the human family, finely formed and with a bright eye. Erect in carriage and sufficiently stout without being corpulent, he is a representative of the American gentleman in whom his countrymen may take pride.

"He is exceedingly winning in his manner of receiving his guests, takes them kindly by the hand, says an appropriate word to every one, smiles graciously to the ladies and moves about the room with the ease and air of a gentleman receiving his friends in his own house."

Jenny Lind was making a triumphal tour of her country in the fall of 1850 and arriving at Washington, where she was to give two concerts, called at the White House.

C. G. Rosenberg in his book, "Jenny Lind in America," tells of the visit:

"On the following morning Made-moiselle Lind waited upon President Fillmore at the White House. She was received by him with the greatest kindness and cordiality, and after spending considerably more than an hour in his society, and that of Mrs. Fillmore and her daughter, returned with an even more enthusiastic admiration of the States than she had previously entertained."

She had sat and chatted with him and with his wife and daughter—she had utterly forgotten his position for the time, and only when she retired did she recollect that she had been in the presence of the man who controlled the most powerful and vigorous government that had ever risen in the short lapse of a single century."

Other distinguished guests at the White House during the Fillmore administration were Gen. Louis Kosuth, the Hungarian revolutionist; Washington Irving and Thackeray.

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. WOLVERINES TO RISK LEAD THIS EVE AT EVANSTON

Defeat at Hands of N. U. Would Bring About a Triple Tie

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—Michigan risks its lead in the Big Ten basketball championship race tonight when it clashes with Northwestern's dangerous Wildcats.

The battle, which will be fought on Northwestern's home floor, is the most tempting dish of the campaign's seven game menu this week. The other games are Illinois at Minnesota tonight; Purdue at Northwestern, Chicago at Iowa, Wisconsin at Indiana, Ohio at Illinois and Michigan at Minnesota on Saturday night.

Defeat for Michigan tonight would tumble the Wolverines into a triple tie for first place with Wisconsin and Purdue, which have won five games and lost one each.

Northwestern, which dropped out of the race by losing its first three games, has come back with a great rush during the past month, defeating Ohio State, Iowa and Indiana in succession. It will be handicapped tonight, however, as "Rut" Walter, star center, will be unable to play because of his leg injury.

Showing no ill effects from their near-month lay-off, the Wolverines ran their string of conference triumphs to five straight Saturday night by defeating Ohio State, 34 to 24, at Ann Arbor, Indiana, co-champion with Purdue last year, dropped farther into the second division Saturday night by losing an overtime game to Iowa at Iowa City. Chicago has yet to win a game. Illinois edged the Maroons out Saturday night, 33 to 29, because of the great shooting of Johnny How, who bagged 19 points.

New York, Feb. 11—(AP)—It will be a long time, at least a decade, before any tennis player can hope to match the ranking record of William Tatem Tilden II.

Reinstated just in time to gain the No. 1 position on the American list for the ninth consecutive year, Tilden, not only established a new national mark, but a world's record as well. Tennis has produced a long list of stars from Sears and Renshaw, down through Lawford, the Dohertys, Brookes, Wilding, Larned, McLaughlin, and other fore-runners of the modern generation, but none can match this mark of Big Bill's. Larned topped the United States list eight times altogether, but they were not consecutive.

Tilden has seen such stars as Little Bill Johnston, Dick Williams and Norman Brookes fade while he re-

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to MEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, MEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each pump. Strange words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

One solution is printed on page 7.

THE CALL OF THE OUTDOORS

LUCKY SHOTS

Of course it is an old story of how the rank amateur of the hunting party made a lucky shot and brought home the best trophy. A story was going the rounds last Fall of a hunter who never had been in the woods before who was given the job of watching camp while the rest went out after the deer. But he was the only member of the party who based a deer. A monster buck walked right into camp and the amateur Nimrod got him.

The best story of the year however, is the one about the "first time" hunter who went to Dakota with a party after ducks. When they got out to the hunting grounds on the first morning, this hunter had such a terrific headache that it was almost impossible for him to raise his gun. So when a farmer came past in car along about noon, he asked for a ride to town, where he intended to spend the balance of the day resting. His companions sympathized with him for they were shooting a few mallards and teal, and they hated to see him lose the day's sport.

But he went with the farmer. On the way to town he looked out across the prairie and saw a small lake, or pond, on which were a number of Canadian geese. As he was observing them, having asked the farmer to stop the car, he happened to look in the other direction and saw another bunch of geese in a grainfield. He hardly knew what to do under the circumstances, but suddenly he saw three or four geese leave the cornfield and fly over to the pond. He noticed that in order to do this they had to skim across a rise of ground. Then he knew what to do. He got out of the car and spent half an hour, in spite of his headache, which he had doubtless forgotten by this time, crawling on his belly to that rise of ground. Then the fun began. He was far enough away from either or both flocks to avoid frightening either of them with his shooting. He just lay there and shot geese.

He stopped when he had the limit. When his companions came in they had a few measly ducks. He invited them to his room, where the monster geese were in a heap on the floor. His headache had gone. Entirely by accident, he had been enabled to accomplish that which many sportsmen spend their lives and great sums of money to accomplish—the limit of Canadian geese.

He had the limit of Canadian geese. As he was observing them, having asked the farmer to stop the car, he happened to look in the other direction and saw another bunch of geese in a grainfield. Whether or not his sensational streak of golf on the winter route from California to Florida heralds his approach to national title honors, "Wild Bill" Mehlnhorn never will have a better chance to become American open king than he did over Oakmont's terrifying terrain in 1927. Wild Bill, after being apparently out of the running, had one of the wildest of his wild spears at the start of his fourth and last round. He came on the turn in 32, five under par on a course whose terrors were too much for Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and a flock of other stars. Out of a clear sky, Mehlnhorn was back in their running with a chance to win. He needed only a 36, one over par, on the last nine to beat 301, the mark at which Harry Cooper and Tommy Armour tied. But as suddenly as it had begun, Mehlnhorn's streak ended. He took a disastrous seven on the 621 and twelfth hole and quickly passed from the picture, finishing with 304.

The difference so far this year is that Mehlnhorn is making a habit, rather than an exception, of such outbursts.

Horton Smith Holds Lead in Tournament

Pensacola, Fla., Feb. 11—(AP)—Horton Smith, 21 year old Joplin, Mo. professional, today was in at least temporary command of the golfing army touring the south by virtue of his victory yesterday in the Greater Pensacola open tournament.

Smith clicked off a 274, ten strokes under par for the 72 holes and five strokes better than the score of "Wild Bill" Mehlnhorn, next in line. In third place came Gene Sarazen, New York, with 282 and Henry Cotton, British pro, was fourth with 283. Bobby Cruickshank, Al Espinosa and Tommy Armour were in the next section with 284's.

Al Espinosa, Chicago, and Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase, New York, expected to leave today for New York, where they will sail for England to enter the British open.

IT'S JUST TOO BAD

"Football prospects at Notre Dame this fall don't appear any brighter than they did last year and the outlook by no means can be considered favorable," Mr. Knute Rockne said recently as he rushed out with the first bear story of the infant year.

Mr. Rockne committed himself in an interview given down in Charlotte, N. C., in which he moaned that he had lost his entire 1928 backfield—Chevigny, Niemi, Brady and nine or ten other halfbacks.

With his entire backfield gone and two star linemen, Capt. Miller and Louis also gone, the Notre Dame coach said that he prospects for a successful year were gloomy. The freshman class also failed him.

TERRIBLE FROSHIES

"It's getting so at Notre Dame now," he said, "that we are losing a great deal of mighty good material. The number of freshmen entering annually is limited to 800. There are about 1700 or 1800 always seeking admission each year and this obviously keeps out a lot of fellows that are potential football players. It seems like the freshmen at Notre Dame are becoming dumber and fresher. And from the crop this past year it looks like we can't expect much from them. They say good players and good teams come in cycles. That's one consolation for the future."

BRILL IS A HERO NOW
There was one good freshman uncovered last season, Rockne admitted. He is a young fellow named Brill and he is an Englisher.

"Brill will go in at right halfback next fall," Rockne said. "Elder is my pick now for left, with Mullin at full and Carrideo at quarter. I don't know what I'll do about the line. There are two big holes and no material available."

DISTRIBUTOR TO BE COLLECTOR IN NEW GAS TAX LAW

Every Effort is Made to Keep Defects Out of New Measure

BY R. P. BOLTON

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 11—(AP)—Sponsored by the state's chief executive, scrutinized by experts on constitutional law and differing essentially in terminology from the law invalidated by the Supreme Court last year, the three-cent gas tax bill stands out as the major legislative development of the past week.

To Representative Homer Tice of Greenville, veteran of the lower house and chairman of the appropriations committee, went the honor of offering the bill in the house of representatives. Senator Martin Carleton of Moline, president pro tem, brought the governor's proposal to the senate. Every precaution has been taken.

opinion that intersectional games are only starting and that the handicap of slow trains in getting the boys from widely scattered points will be overcome soon by the use of airplanes.

"It's just a question of a very short time," he said, "before football teams will travel by airplane in order to effect an untold saving in hours. Teams in the east can hop a plane, play on the Pacific coast with very little loss of time and get back to their institutions a day or two later and be ready for a contest in another section of the country on the next week-end."

TOO BAD IT'S SO HOT

Southern football, he told the boys, "is getting better and better, although the teams down here are still handicapped by trying to round into condition early in the season on account of the hot weather. It is usually late October before most of the southern teams are really in shape for a big game, and more often it is November."

"It seems to me it would be a fine idea if southern teams could add on an extra month and schedule games through December. Naturally a December schedule would not synchronize with schedules of other teams in other sections, but the southern teams might play their most important sectional contests in that extra month."

"From indications right now, it looks like Georgia Tech is far and away the foremost team in the south this season. Tech is returning virtually her entire team, with plenty of reserves. However, I am looking for Alabama to spring a big surprise. In addition, Tennessee is going to be practically as strong as last year. You can always count on Vanderbilt to be in the running, too. Chuck Collins at North Carolina seems to have a good crop of material."

Pimples

If you want to get rid of ugly, disgusting pimples in a hurry, try the harmless new remedy, in convenient tablet form, called Kitagran. It gets rid of the impurities in the blood so quickly that the skin clears up right away—often within 24 hours. You can get Kitagran from Rowland's Pharmacy who will return your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied.—Adv.

sponsors of the bill declared, to guard the new bill from constitutional defect, which proved the undoing of the old law. The opinion of the Supreme Court regarding the enactment of the 55th Assembly was carefully studied while the gas tax bill was being drafted.

Written at the February, 1928 term of court by Justice Floyd E. Thompson, this opinion found fault especially with the provision of the gas tax law relating to the collection of the tax. While the law of 1927 was meant to be a tax upon the users of motor vehicles, the tax was collected from the distributor, by the phrase, "the licensee (distributor, who had to obtain a license) shall pay as a license tax two cents for each gallon of fuel."

It was presumed, of course that this two cents would be passed on to the consumer, as it was. The court however, could not presume any such thing, and perforce had to interpret the law as an excise tax on the distributor.

Then the refund question was considered in the light of this reasoning. There is no law, Judge Thompson wrote, authorizing any person to get a refund from the state treasury unless he has paid something into the state treasury. To collect a tax from a distributor and then turn it over to a user of gasoline was clearly a violation of the constitution.

Distributor Collector
The Emerson gas tax bill, however, avoids this technical fault by providing that each distributor "shall collect from the purchaser at the time of sale, three cents per gallon on all fuel." The effect of this provision is to make the filling station attendant a tax collector for the state.

Directions for Economy in Food Without Injury

It costs the average family to feed six people—mother, father and four children, varying in age from a nursing baby to the school age child, on an average $11.55 a week. In other words, 46.3 per cent of the total income of $25.00 must be spent for food alone.

Taking such a limited food budget and showing how to distribute the food purchase, in order to insure this average family an adequate diet, will be just as helpful for the housewife who has much more money to spend for food, since it gives the general rules for planning the family diet. There are also suggestions for those who are anxious to cut down expenses.

Food has three main functions: It serves as fuel to meet the energy needs of the individual; it furnishes materials necessary for building bodily tissues and it regulates the body processes so they may function healthfully. You must have a proper selection of bread, meat, milk, vegetables and fruit if the food is to perform these three main functions. The $165 must cover the following items:

All Dressed Up; He Breaks Record

Lowering the non-stop flight record from Los Angeles to New York by approximately a half hour, Capt. Frank Hawks stepped from his "air express" Lockheed plane in New York, took off his raccoon coat and stepped out in a business suit to see the city. Hawks' time was 18 hours, 21 minutes and 59 seconds, the old record of Art Goebel having been 18 hours and 58 minutes. A mechanic accompanied him.

An Automobile at $175,000

Never met the miniature auto this Vanguard Condgon of Cleveland is holding that's the attraction here. For it's the most valuable auto in the entire auto show at Cleveland. It cost $175,000 and consists of 3310 diamonds, 581 oriental rubies, 856 topaz and one large Australian opal. The diamond firm of H. W. Beattie & Sons, noted for their art in fashioning singular designs of precious stones, built it.

Penn's Rasslin' Parson

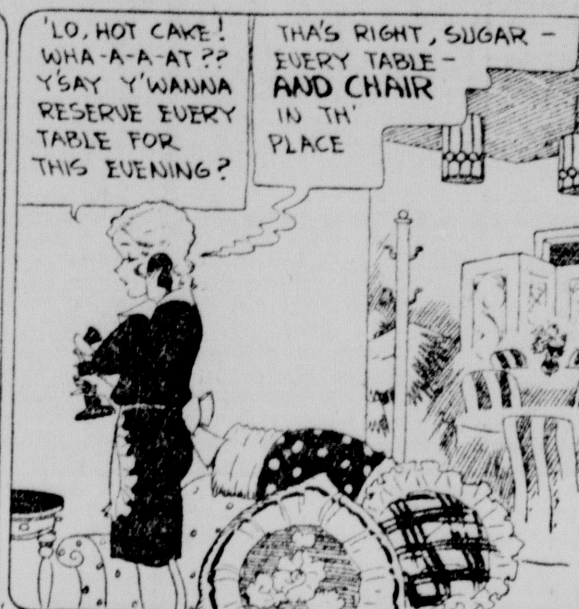

The ferocious looking young man appearing in the above picture hardly would be taken for a member of the clergy, but he is an ordained minister of the gospel. He is Rev. Charles Urban and he is one of the star members of the University of Pennsylvania wrestling team. He was also a varsity football player last season.

ALMOST CRAZED BY RHEUMATISM; GLY-CAS ENDS IT

Most Wonderful Medicine of
All. Mrs. Knott Says of Great Herbal Compound.

"Gly-Cas is the most wonderful medicine I have ever taken in my life, for it changed me from a miserably distressed rheumatic sufferer into a person absolutely free from pain," was the recent remarkable statement of Mrs. Mary E. Knott, who has hundreds of friends and acquaintances in Fremont, Ohio, living at 612 Tiffin St., that city.

MRS. MARY E. KNOTT.

"The rheumatism had so stiffened my hands and arms that they were hardly any use to me at all and terrible knots had formed on my knuckles," she said. "Every time I even moved my arms the pain was intense and when the rheumatism got down into my hip and limb I simply thought I'd go crazy. The only way I could walk was by pushing a chair around in front of me for support and when I got any sleep at all it was with my head on the table from exhaustion. For years I had had this terrible rheumatism and finally stomach troubles added to my already miserable condition. I don't believe I failed to try any medicine I heard of in the past but let me say that never before had I ever found one like the Gly-Cas. It is the most wonderful of all—I had changed me from a person racked with awful pain to one free from suffering. The awful stiffness has vanished from my arms and I use them and my hands too, without trouble. Walking means no difficulty for me anymore either, and I can actually go up and down stairs and the only need I have for a chair now is as other people use it—to sit down in. My days of pushing a chair before me are ended. I am simply an altogether different woman and I praise the Gly-Cas and then praise it some more for all this relief."

Gly-Cas is sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, Sold Franklin Grove, C. S. Ives; Polo, C. R. Clothier; Ashton, G. R. Charters; Ambly, Aschenbrenner Drug; Compton, W. H. Hill; Rockford, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.—Adv.

McMann joined the group, and, for him, spoke softly to the collapsed figure in the chair.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X
FOR many nights to come Ruth Lester was to be haunted by that long-drawn wail of agony and grief that rose from Mrs. Borden's throat when she caught sight of that which lay huddled and still on the floor.

For a dreadful second that seemed eternal Ruth thought the widow was going to kneel in that horrible, brownish, drying pool of blood, but she must have seen it just in time, for she shuddered away from it, then flung her body down beside that of the man who had been her husband and the father of her children.

Ruth tried to tear her eyes away so that she might not see that lifting of the stiffened face, the cradling of it upon a bosom Harry Borden had secured in life and come back to in death.

McMann stood by, grimly watching that heart-breaking tableau. His tending for the widow to betray herself. But the only words that came were choked sobs and moans of grief. At last the detective bent over the kneeling woman and gently forced her convulsively clinging hands from the dead face. With considerable care, McMann restored the body to its exact former position, while Ruth on one side of her and Jack on the other held carried the widow into the outer office.

McMann joined the group, and, for him, spoke softly to the collapsed figure in the chair. "Mrs. Borden, why did you come to see your husband this morning?"

Mrs. Borden raised a shaking hand and passed it over her dark eyes. "Please! I feel faint. I'll be better in a moment."

"I'll get you a drink!" Ruth offered pitifully, eagerly. As she ran to the water cooler in the corner she had a mental picture of performing that same service for Mrs. Borden on Saturday, saw herself pulling open the stuck bottom drawer of the desk, with Mrs. Borden's assistance, saw again the blue black automatic lying on a stack of clean towels, heard again her own hurried explanation to Mrs. Borden of the gun's presence there.

"Thank you, Miss—oh, yes, Miss Lester. You're very kind. Will you tell me why—he killed himself, sir?" Mrs. Borden addressed the detective with an effort, after she had moistened her lips with the water Ruth had brought.

"My question first, please, Mrs. Borden," McMann answered. "Why did you come to see your husband this morning? You have had ample time to think of a good reason."

"Oh!" Ruth cried, but Jack, taking her hand and pressing it hard, warned her to silence.

Mrs. Borden stiffened. "I came this morning to tell my—my husband that our daughter, Betty, is ill. Harry—Mr. Borden—is very fond of Betty, and Betty of him."

"You were here Saturday, Mrs. Borden? Was Betty ill then?"

"Oh, no, she was quite well then, but Betty is delicate, easily upset. She awoke this morning with a fever, and cried for her—her father."

"I see," McMann said, with apparent sympathy. "You came Saturday morning and were told Mr. Borden was busy and that you had better come back later?"

"Yes."

"You said you would return about half-past one?" McMann pressed. "And did?"

"I did, Harry—Mr. Borden—"

"Just a minute, Mrs. Borden! How did you get in? With your own latchkey?"

"It was just two or three minutes after half-past one when I left the children in the lobby of the Chester Hotel, where the three of us had lunch. It must have been 20 minutes of two when Mr. Borden admitted me. I had rather a long wait for the elevator, I remember, and walking was slow through the Saturday crowds. Yes, it must have been as late as 20 minutes to two."

McMann considered, then: "Now Mrs. Borden, was there anything at all unusual in Mr. Borden's manner?"

Again that wave of scarlet. "He—was obviously in a hurry," she faltered. "He said something about having to catch a train. He was much the same as—usual, except perhaps a little more—more exuberant, as if—as if—"

The detective regarded

All Dressed Up; He Breaks Record

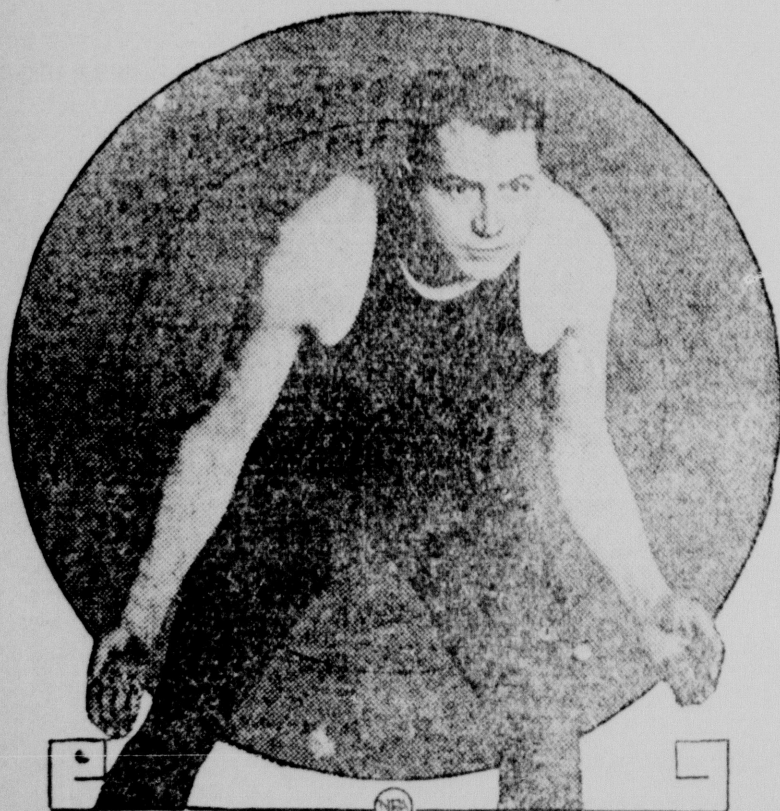

Lowering the non-stop flight record from Los Angeles to New York by approximately a half hour, Capt. Frank Hawks stepped from his "air express" Lockheed plane in New York, took off his raccoon coat and stepped out in a business suit to see the city. Hawks' time was 18 hours, 21 minutes and 59 seconds, the old record of Art Goebel having been 18 hours and 58 minutes. A mechanic accompanied him.

An Automobile at $175,000

Never mind the price - the miniature auto Miss Vanguard Condron of Cleveland is holding that's the attraction here. For it's the most valuable auto in the entire auto show at Cleveland. It cost $175,000 and consists of 3310 diamonds, 581 oriental rubies, 856 topaz and one large Australian opal. The diamond firm of H. W. Beattie & Sons, noted for their art in fashioning singular designs of precious stones, built it.

Penn's Rasslin' Parson

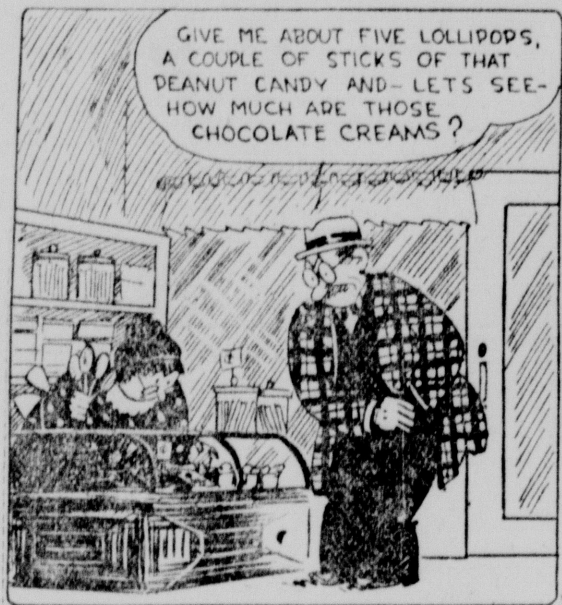

The ferocious looking young man appearing in the above picture hardly would be taken for a member of the clergy, but he is an ordained minister of the gospel. He is Rev. Charles Urban and he is one of the star members of the University of Pennsylvania wrestling team. He was also a varsity football player last season.

THOMAS EDISON, 82 TODAY, STILL CARRIES ON WORK

Wizard Seeks to End His Career by Finding
Rubber Substitute

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Writer

The world's greatest inventor—the man whose achievements touch your life every day, who made possible for you the radio, the electric light, the moving picture, the street car and a whole host of equally important but less spectacular inventions—is 82 years old today.

That man, of course, is Thomas A. Edison. For decades he has been one of America's most famous, and useful, citizens. He has also been one of the most active; and now, at 82, there is no sign that he intends to relax in any way the tremendous activities that have characterized every year of his long life.

Edison's birthday is always an event. Reporters and cameramen besiege him, take as many pictures as he will allow and ply him with questions on everything under the sun. Always recognized as a man of surpassing intellect, he is now, in his old age, accepted also as something of an oracle.

On his birthday, too, people like to look back over his long career. His life-story always bears re-telling. The story of what he did, and how he did it, is one of the most absorbing stories America has produced.

Milan, O., was Edison's birthplace. The year was 1847. The nation then was a quiet country; agriculture was its mainstay, and the industrial revolution had hardly begun to be felt. The streets of big cities were lighted by gas; in smaller towns they were not lighted at all. Electricity was only a puzzling natural phenomenon. It was a pre-Edison country, vastly different from today.

When Edison was 7 his family moved to Port Huron, Mich.; and there, five years later, he started out to make his way in the world. A job as newsboy on a Grand Trunk railroad train was his first job—not, perhaps, a very promising beginning. But it served.

Already he had given evidence of a keen natural curiosity. His mother, going to the cellar one day, found him at a long table covered with bottles, most of which were labeled "poison." He had rigged up a laboratory, of sorts, and was going to make some experiments. When he went to work on the railroad he moved his laboratory to the baggage car and messed around gaily in it at every spare moment.

Electricity fascinated him from the beginning. The telegraph was then coming into general use, and he longed to learn about it. Chance gave him his opening.

In 1862 young Edison rescued the daughter of the Mt. Clemens station master from under the wheels of a train. The station master, full of gratitude, asked the boy what he could do to repay him.

"I want to be a telegrapher," Edison replied. So a telegrapher he became, and for five years he worked in that job. All the time he was studying electricity and tinkering with embryonic inventions.

Then he moved to Boston, where he secured his first patent—on an electrical vote-recording machine. But the device, while a successful invention, was a commercial failure; and in 1869 Edison, then 23, moved to New York, slightly discouraged. There he had better success. He devised an electrical stock ticker, patented it—and sold the rights for $40,000.

With this money he determined to do what he had always longed to do—establish himself in an independent laboratory and devote all of his time to research. He moved to Newark, N. J., built a workshop, and started on the long path that was to yield some of the world's most useful inventions.

The first few years were un spectacular. Edison helped perfect the first practical typewriter, and developed a carbon transmitter for telephones; but it was not until 1876, when he moved his shop to Menlo Park, N. J., that real success began to come.

After a number of experiments, he devised a little machine with a wax cylinder, needle, and sensitive diaphragm. Into the funnel that led to the diaphragm he spoke the words, "Mary had a little lamb." Then he changed the machine around, put in a different kind of needle, and turned a lever. Out of the funnel came his own voice, saying "Mary had a little lamb." The phonograph had been invented.

Then he turned back to his first love, electricity. The arc light had been invented and was in some use for street lights, but it was impractical for use in the home. Edison determined to find an electric light that could be used cheaply by every household. The problems were many, but in 1879 Edison introduced the first incandescent electric light. At about the same time Edison produced another invention—less spectacular, but tremendously important. He developed the first central power station, to furnish the current for the hundreds of lamps with which his Menlo Park laboratory was festooned.

To do this, he had to devise a dynamo far more efficient than anything then in existence. He did it—and then developed a new electric motor, built an experimental electric train and paved the way for the electric street car, subway, elevated and electric locomotive.

In 1882 Edison's New York power

ABE MARTIN

If there's any question in President-elect Hoover's mind about prohibition prohibiting he's restin' up in a dandy place to git the low down on the situation. If a theatre box office lineup wuz headed in any other direction you'd never suspect that ther wuz $3 in the crowd.

plant began commercial operation on a small scale. Out of it grew the giant General Electric Co. of today.

Edison always had "side lines." While perfecting one invention he would be toying with half a dozen other ideas at the same time.

Thus, while the electric light, dynamo and motor were being given to the world, Edison was making the experiments that were to make radio possible. He also devised a machine that would make low-grade iron ores valuable, and put all of his available cash into the formation of a company to market it—for most of the country's available iron ore deposits then were of the low-grade type, and there was an enormous market for such a machine.

Unfortunately, the tremendously rich Mesaba iron range in Minnesota was discovered just then. Edison's company failed, and for a time he was acutely embarrassed financially. To recoup he invented a machine that would make cement more cheaply—and got his money back. At the same time, he was trying to invent a practical storage battery. This took years of his time, and he is said to have made 50,000 experiments for this one purpose. In the end, he succeeded.

Having developed the phonograph, which would preserve sounds for posterity, Edison wondered if sights could not be preserved likewise. He left electricity for a while and began to experiment with cameras. The result was his invention, in 1891, of the moving picture camera and projector.

Edison was always interested chiefly in inventions that had a direct, practical value. He was not greatly interested in his moving picture inventions; he did not believe that they would be commercially profitable. So he abandoned this field, and left to others the great work of developing the moving picture industry. But every movie you attend was made possible by Edison.

Recently Edison's attention was turned to artificial rubber. Edison went to his winter home in Florida to conduct extensive experiments with rubber substitutes.

More than 1100 patents represent Edison's life of invention. Many of these cover articles in daily use. Yet Edison never was listed among the richest men of the country. His whole career was devoted to invention, and once a device was complete he lost interest in it. It has been estimated that the industries which have grown out of his inventions are worth at least $20,000,000,000; his own personal fortune has been estimated to run over a million, but not to any height comparable to those of Ford or Rockefeller.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritation, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
